‘Calling the Game: Your Legal Rights’ for Lacrosse Refs Featured at US Lacrosse National Convention

Alan Goldberger, a New Jersey attorney and the author of Sports Officiating: A Legal Guide, returned for his ninth consecutive year as a featured speaker at the US Lacrosse National Convention last month in Baltimore, Maryland. Goldberger presented "Calling the Game: Your Legal Rights" to officials attending the US Lacrosse Men's Officials Council at the convention.

Goldberger serves as counsel to local, state and national sports and officiating organizations, including the International Association of Approved Basketball Officials, Inc., the New Jersey State Baseball Umpires Association, Inc., the State Basketball Officials Association of New Jersey, Inc., and the Professional Association of Volleyball Officials. He officiated college and high school basketball for over 30 years, most recently working in the Northeast Conference. He also umpired college baseball for the Eastern College Athletic Conference; and worked as a high school football official throughout the State of New Jersey. Goldberger is a frequent speaker to groups of officials, coaches, athletic administrators, and attorneys nationwide.
