HENDERSON FRANKLIN ATTORNEYS ROOS AND SHAW TO DISCUSS COVID-19 AND WORKERS' COMPENSATION CLAIMS

Fort Myers, Florida - Henderson, Franklin, Starnes & Holt, P.A., is pleased to announce that attorneys David Roos and Spencer Shaw will present "COVID-19 and Workers' Compensation" at the Insurance Management Consultancy Group's XCelleration seminar scheduled for March 17 at Cypress Lake Golf Club. Topics include Finding Savings in an Aggravated Inequity; A Legislative and Legal Update; the Role of Carrier in a Workers' Compensation claim and practice advice for safety management.

"It's an honor to have David and Spencer join the XCelleration Learning Series for March Madness. Having genuine industry leaders impart tangible ideas and strategies ensures all participants will receive immense value," shares Chris Tritt, President & Co-Founder of Insurance Management Consultancy Group.

Attorneys Roos and Shaw will help HR professionals and business owners understand whether contraction of the coronavirus (COVID-19) would be considered a work related accident for which compensation would be due. The analysis assumes that potential affected workers would be emergency medical technicians, law enforcement officers and correctional officers that claim contact with, or exposure to, the virus and includes a statutory and case law analysis based upon the state of workers' compensation law.

Roos serves as Chair of the firm's Workers' Compensation division. He represents insurance carriers, third party administrators, and employers in the defense of workers' compensation claims. Naples Illustrated magazine has named Roos a "Top Lawyer" in Workers Compensation law every year since 2018. He received his B.A. from the University of South Florida and his J.D. from Nova Southeastern University, cum laude.

Shaw represents public and private employers throughout Florida at every stage defending a workers' compensation claim – from making sure employers file and respond with proper documentation to preparing witness for deposition and trial. She serves as co-chair of the Florida Defense Lawyers Association's Workers' Compensation Section. Shaw is a native of Southwest Florida. She graduated from Naples High School, received her undergraduate degree from Florida Gulf Coast University, and her J.D. from Ave Maria School of Law (magna cum laude).
