Attorney Nicholas Fox Joins McNees Wallace & Nurick LLC

HARRISBURG, Pa. – (June 1, 2018) – McNees Wallace & Nurick LLC announced that attorney Nicholas Fox has joined the firm's Construction & Procurement Law Group. Nick focuses his practice on the commercial construction industry and regularly represents project owners and contractors involved in complex construction projects.

Nick brings extensive industry experience to his construction law practice. Prior to becoming a lawyer, Nick worked as a project manager for a large general contractor serving the Washington D.C. and Baltimore metropolitan areas.

Nick is particularly experienced in the drafting of commercial construction contracts; he has served on a task force to promulgate industry standard construction contract templates, and he remains up to date on recent developments in this area. In addition to contract matters, Nick also counsels construction materials manufacturers and the trade associations that represent them.

When disputes arise, Nick represents clients before federal and state courts, as well as arbitral and administrative tribunals. He is well-versed in a broad array of construction law disciplines, including the various prompt payment statutes, prevailing wage and MBE/WBE/DBE requirements, surety bonds, and he has a particular interest in mechanics' lien matters.

Nick regularly lectures and publishes articles on mechanics' lien claims, project delivery methods, OSHA matters, and construction contracting strategies.

Nick received his law degree from The Pennsylvania State University, The Dickinson School of Law and his undergraduate degree from The Pennsylvania State University, Smeal College of Business.
