

Greenberg Traurig Attorneys Moderating Panels at IRES Foundation National School on Market Regulation

The IRES Foundation is holding its National School on Market Regulation March 12-14 in St. Petersburg, Florida. "As a member of the IRES Foundation Board, I have been involved for many years in the school and found it to be very rewarding," Fred Karlinsky recently commented. Both Fred and Rich Fidei will be moderating panels at this event.

IRES Foundation is a non-profit that supports the Insurance Regulatory Examiners Society. For over 25 years the Foundation has operated an educational event that brings insurance compliance professionals together with industry to support greater compliance cooperation and add value for the consumer.

Gain Necessary Knowledge and Engage in Valuable Networking at the renowned IRES Foundation National School on Market Regulation

The School is in its 24th year and has a long history and great reputation for providing educational opportunities, and the ability to interact with regulators on issues facing the industry and their impact on your organization. There are 18 informative sessions that span P&C as well as Life, Health, and Annuities, and offers opportunities to get one-on-one with regulators from several states including California, Connecticut, Georgia, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and, of course, Florida. Our guest of honor will be Florida Office of Insurance Regulation Commissioner David Altmaier. The IIPRC, the Center for Consumer Information and Insurance Oversight, and the NAIC will also be in attendance.

The School provides insurance industry professionals in Florida the opportunity to gain all of the benefits of attendance while potentially avoiding expensive flights and reducing the need for several overnights if the location is commutable.

Educational sessions, opportunities to meet with regulators, and networking with industry peers all close to home. Whether you've attended before, or are a first-timer, it will never be more economical or convenient for you to take advantage of the many benefits the School has to offer.
