While attending The National Retail & Restaurant Defense Association in Ft. Lauderdale, FL. earlier this month, Claire Carr presented on the topics of pre-litigation investigation and taking more effective Recorded Statements. Claire has been appointed to chair the Workers' Compensation Committee of NRRDA for 2016-2017. Brian Cafritz, a founding member and past president of NRRDA, also presented and was re-elected to the Board of Directors to serve a three-year term.

NRRDA's mission is to advance and protect the interests of the retail and restaurant industry. By providing members with information, strategies and tools, NRRDA works to reduce claims and better manage risk; mount effective defense strategies against claims and litigation; and foster and encourage a cooperative relationship among the members of the Association. NRRDA recently welcomed 53 new members and noted record attendance at this year's conference. NRRDA 2017 will take place in San Diego, CA, March 1-3.
