FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL DENNEHEY PLANS EXPANSION IN NEW YORK, NEW JERSEY

Philadelphia – January 2014 – Thomas A. Brophy, President & CEO of Marshall Dennehey Warner Coleman & Goggin, is pleased to announce an agreement with James P. Connors, Managing Partner of Jones Hirsch Connors Miller & Bull P.C. wherein Jones Hirsch lawyers will become part of Marshall Dennehey. The pending joinder is expected to be finalized by the middle of 2014.

"Jim and I have been speaking for over a year and are impressed by how closely aligned our two firms are in terms of culture, clients and civil litigation experience," said Brophy. "Having the lawyers of Jones Hirsch join us is a terrific opportunity to expand our footprint in New York while adding talent, experience and depth. When the joinder is complete Marshall Dennehey will have over 50 lawyers in its New York locations. Over the years we have been strengthened by the contributions of lateral attorneys who have joined the firm, and I am confident the lawyers and staff of Jones Hirsch will strengthen our New York practice."

Jim Connors observed, "there is a clear benefit to both our clients and our attorneys in joining a thriving, nationally recognized firm with unparalleled resources. I was particularly struck by their welcoming culture, commitment to client satisfaction, collaboration, diversity and respect."

Approximately 30 attorneys of Jones Hirsch will be joining existing Marshall Dennehey offices in Manhattan, Long Island and New Jersey as well as a new location in White Plains, NY.
