Rudolph, Fine, Porter & Johnson hires new attorney and paralegals

Rudolph, Fine, Porter & Johnson, LLP, has hired a new associate attorney, Rodney Miller, and two paralegals, Amy Satterfield and Nicole Alli, in its litigation department. Miller was previously an assistant professor of law at Atlanta's John Marshall Law School. A Wheaton, Ill., native, he was admitted to practice law in Illinois in 2005. He earned his Juris Doctor from the University of Pittsburgh in 2005 and his Bachelor of Arts in English Language and Literature from the University of Michigan in 1995. Miller practices law in the following areas: civil litigation, torts, product liability and insurance defense.

An Oakland City native and University of Evansville graduate, Satterfield earned her Bachelor of Science in Legal Studies in 1992. She was previously employed as a paralegal at Kahn, Dees, Donovan & Kahn. Alli graduated from Indiana University with a Bachelor of Science in Finance and Legal Studies in 2012. She previously worked as a case readiness writer and case manager at Fleschner, Stark, Tanoos & Newlin in Terre Haute.
